NEXT YEAR'S WORK.

This issue of the Aurora College Bulletin is devoted to announcements for next year's work, and it is desired to circulate a large number of the Bulletin among the young people who may be interested in college work of any kind. Careful perusal of the present number will enable young persons to decide whether an opportunity such as is here offered will not meet their needs. In making announcements for the coming college year, Aurora College is pleased to call attention to some favorable conditions which point to an excellent opening for the future students. During the year just closing the greatest advance has been made that ever has been achieved by the institution in a single year. The enrollment this year is fifty per centum greater than for the year 1912-13, and a corresponding increase has also come to the money receipts with which to meet current expenses. While the endowment fund has been increased considerably, the expectations of the management have not been fully realized. This is a matter which deserves the attention of every person interested in the welfare and progress of Aurora College. On the other hand, the current expenses have not materially increased. This indicates better financial conditions. However, it is hoped that everyone will engage with increased fervor in bringing the college to a higher and more complete position among the educational institutions of the country from which our students come.

"Jensen Looking for Results"

The increased number of students has had a tendency to develop a greater competition in the class-room work.

Another favorable condition, and it is probably more important than any other, is that the general scholarship of the student body has very much improved during this year. Such advances as this cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, if it can be at all. But such advances must be made in order to meet the demands of progress and real efficiency. The work of every institution of higher education is in a measure a missionary movement for the betterment of humanity at large. Aurora College is no exception to this rule. Our educational field is world-wide, and the benefits accrue to no particular class. The College congratulates itself that the places filled by the young men and women who have gone out from this college, as well as the good character of the graduates, make a record for the school that indicates a high degree of excellence, and is an honor to the institution.

Steps have been taken during the last two years to get all students who have attended classes at the college, whether graduates or not, to effect an organization for mutual fellowship and for the moral support of the general work. This movement has met with quite an enthusiastic response. While such an organization moves slowly, it is in process of development. Those having the work in charge are doing their best, and solicit the co-operation of every one who has been or now is connected with the work of the college.

The scientific department of the college will introduce some valuable changes in the general work which will be to the advantage of students preparing for some special vocation, as well as all others. It is purposed not only to teach the ordinary theoretical and laboratory work in physics and chemistry, but to give illustrations of the practical application and values of such principles and theories in the various pursuits of the ordinary every-day affairs of life. The student may feel assured that the time devoted to college is a valuable part of the productive work of life. The college designs to put every student at once in touch with the business and professional life to be followed in coming years. The world moves along every avenue of human affairs, and the well-trained in science has the battle of life half won. He is in constant demand. The aim is to keep this course fully abreast the business and practical world.

Charles E. Decker

Aurora College takes pleasure in introducing the new member of the faculty elected for the coming year, Mr. Charles E. Decker. He has been one of our students for six years, entering the classes while the college was at Mendota. Mr. Decker was reared in Nova Scotia, Canada, and for several years before entering college followed the profession of teacher. He is fully equipped for the position to which he has been elected. During the six years of his college studies he has completed both the ancient classical course and the theological course. Besides the work accomplished in the college he has served several churches as supply. In this capacity he served the Augusta Street church of Chicago several months, where he won the highest regard as a preacher and Christian worker. The student body holds Mr. Decker in the highest esteem, and all feel well pleased over the choice made by the Educational Board.

MUSIC

We are presenting several new names in the faculty list for the Musical Department. The prospects in this department are excellent for the coming year. The changes are considered altogether to the advantage of the students. Mr. Lemuel W. Kilby and Miss Jessie Lind Hopkins are noted artists, and have a good reputation throughout the United States, having sung with many leading orchestras and choral societies. The new pianists have appeared in several orchestras and also with recitals a great deal the past few years in Chicago and vicinity. They are recognized as concert artists and unusually successful teachers. Mr. Detweiler, director of the musical department of the college, feels quite confident that he can do some excellent chorus work for the students the coming year. Prospects are good, and there is need that persons wishing to enter the educational field in any profession should understand music.

DEPARTMENTS OF THE WORK

The institution includes five departments, namely, Collegiate, Preparatory, Theological, Commercial and Musical. Each of these departments leads to graduation, and a diploma is given to every student passing the required examinations and completing the regular, prescribed course.

INSTRUCTION

The aim is to make the instruction in all departments thorough and practical, to stimulate individual effort, and to prepare the student for original investigation and independent thinking.

The class-room work is carried on by means of lectures and recitations from the best text books, with free discussion in class, supplemented by the presentation of papers, notes and outlines on various subjects assigned in connection with the work. Special attention is given to laboratory work and the preparation of note-books.

ADMISSION

The College is open to students of both sexes on equal terms, without regard to nationality or religious faith.

Candidates for admission to the college in any of its departments must furnish testimonials of good moral character. If from other institutions, a certificate of honorable dismissal must also be presented. Such certificate may be furnished by the applicant's pastor or by some teacher connected with the school last attended. No person under fourteen years of age will be admitted to any department except by special arrangement.

Applicants for admission to preparatory classes must furnish satisfactory evidence of having finished the grammar grades before they can be registered for preparatory courses. Provision will be made to assist such applicants as have not completed the work required.

Students will be admitted to the freshman classes of the college by credentials from accredited schools or by examination. In either case full standing will be given only after ability to pursue a college course has been demonstrated by satisfactory work.

The work of students who enter by credentials must be equivalent to a four years' high school course.

A year's work in a subject with five recitations per week constitutes a credit. The minimum number of credits upon which students will be admitted to a regular college course is fourteen. These are fixed as follows:

Foreign Language	3 credits
English	3 credits
Mathematics	2 credits
History	1 credit
Science	1 credit
And four credits from the following:
Foreign Language	1, 2 or 3 credits
English	1 credit
Mathematics	1 credit
History	1, 2 or 3 credits
Science	1, 2 or 3 credits

Students who can furnish only two credits in foreign languages may be admitted to the scientific course, provided they have fourteen credits properly distributed.

Blanks for the convenience of those wishing to apply for admission credits will be furnished on application. As far as possible, all matters pertaining to admission and to admission credits should be attended to by correspondence before coming to the college. This will save time and insure proper classification.

REGISTRATION

Students will find it much to their advantage to be present and to complete their registration on regular registration days.

Each student is expected to register for four full studies unless good reasons can be shown for taking a smaller amount of work. Except by special arrangement no student will be allowed to register for more than twenty hours' work per week, and then only on condition that his grade in each subject be kept up to 90 per cent. Extra tuition will be required of all whose registration calls for more than twenty hours per week. This provision does not apply to laboratory hours, nor does it apply to the work of the commercial department. Changes in registration during the year can be made only by consent of the president or registrar.

TIME TO ENTER

Students may enter at any time, but experience has fully demonstrated that it is greatly to the advantage of the student to be present at the beginning of the first semester. This is important for several reasons: The student can then receive the proper classification, be on equal footing with his classmates, and pursue studies that are continued throughout the year and cannot be repeated. The majority of the subjects composing the college and preparatory courses are carried as either one or two semester studies. To take up a two semester (a full year) study, or a study that is carried only during the first semester, students should enter at the beginning of the year in September. To take up subjects that are designated as second semester studies, students should enter not later than the opening of the second semester.

EXAMINATIONS

Examinations are held from time to time as it is thought necessary and advantageous to the students. At the discretion of the instructor, other work assigned by him may be received as a substitute for an examination. Regular examinations are held in all classes at the middle and end of each semester (see calendar).

Promotions to advanced standing are made upon the basis of satisfactory examinations in the studies pursued or the performance of such special work as the instructor may direct.

Unexcused absences to the amount of ten per cent of the required number of hours work in any subject, during any one term, will call for a special examination in that subject.

Unexcused absences from one-sixth of the regular work in any subject will be considered a failure therein and will necessitate the repetition of that subject for credit.

Unexcused absence from any regular examination is construed as a failure therein.

A statement of the scholarship of each student will be sent to his parent or guardian at the close of each term, if so desired.

LITERARY SOCIETY

In this society programs of a literary and musical character are prepared and given by the students. The topics presented in these programs are either of current or educational interest, but endeavor is made to make every program entertaining as well as instructive. Each student is required to belong to the Literary Society and take the part assigned him, or present each term an equivalent in a carefully worked-out written theme, which must be approved by the Department of English.

YOUNG MEN'S DEBATING CLUB

This club is open for membership to all young men of the different departments of the College. Current and interesting questions are discussed and drills in parliamentary usages conducted in such a manner as to prepare the student for the sterner contests of later life. All young men in good standing are eligible to membership. Meetings are held regularly every Saturday evening.

WOMEN'S DEBATING CLUB

The women are organized under the name Adelpheia Rhaetorias. The regular meetings are held every Saturday evening. Only questions of vital interest are discussed in this club. Regular parliamentary drills are carried on according to the latest rules. The object of this club is to encourage the student in presenting before an audience in a clear, forceful and logical manner the interesting discussions of every-day life.

COLLEGE CHORAL CLUB

This society is conducted by the director of the music department. All who can read music easily and whose voices are true are eligible for membership. A small tuition fee is charged. Each year the Choral Club gives a number of concerts, which are duly announced.

COLLEGE PROHIBITION LEAGUE

This is a temperance society under the supervision of the National College Prohibition Association. Its purpose is to educate college young men and women in various phases of the liquor problem, and to interest them in the fight against the saloon. The society is not political in any sense, but only educational. Each year local, state and interstate contests are held, at which prizes in oratory are offered; members of the local society are eligible to try in these contests.

CONTESTS

Beside the contests connected with the Prohibition League there are two others, one between the two debating clubs for the possession of the "silver cup," and the contest connected with the Literary Society for cash prizes. These contests have stimulated a good amount of excellent work among the students.

ATHLETICS

The aim of Aurora College is to send out symmetrically developed men into the different spheres of business activity, and the college is exerting every effort to provide the best opportunities to produce sane, healthful and enjoyable physical exercise. As an aid to the accomplishment of this end we have a well-equipped Athletic Association.

The new college building has an up-to-date gymnasium, equipped with all modern apparatus—basket-ball, indoor baseball, bars, rings, weights and pulleys, dumbbells, pins, etc. The list of participations the coming year will doubtless include gym work, football, track work, basket-ball, baseball, tennis and other standard games. Interscholar athletics have been pursued the past year with a good deal of success for the college teams. The prospect for the coming year is better than at any other time for a more complete organization and fuller development of the college work in this interesting field.

PHYSICAL EXERCISE FOR WOMEN.

Today no apology is needed in making a plea for gymnastics or physical culture for women. The young women meet in the gymnasium three times each week for drill. The exercises given are expected to strengthen the action of the heart, increase the capacity of the lungs, improve the circulation, bring into use the weaker abdominal muscles, remedy stooping or uneven shoulders, incorrect poise of the head, faults in carriage of the body, and, in short, to better the whole physical condition.

The general work includes breathing exercises, flexing exercises to overcome stiffness, exercises to develop muscular control, the use of Indian clubs and dumb-bells, wand drills and marching tactics. This year has been marked by progress and better arrangements for future work.

DIPLOMAS AND DEGREES

Diplomas are given to students who complete the following courses:

1. The full course in commercial work.
2. The full course in stenography.
3. The full course in the preparatory department, (a) Scientific (b) Classical.
4. The full three-years' course in the Theological Department.
5. The full college course, (a) Scientific, (b) Classical.
6. The Musical Department gives certificates as follows: Preparatory Credentials, Teacher's Certificates, Normal Class Credentials, and Graduating Diplomas.

THE GYM GIRLS

DEGREES

Miss Munson
Musical Department

(1) The degree of A. B. will be conferred upon those who have finished the Classical course, passing in a satisfactory manner all examinations, and in addition have furnished a well written thesis bearing marks of good scholarship.

(2) The degree of S. B. will be conferred upon those completing the Scientific Course. Conditions the same as those for A. B.

(3) The degree of D. B. will be granted to those only who have received the degree A. B. or S. B., and in addition have taken three full years' work in the Theological Course. Other conditions same as those for A. B.

THESES.

The subject for thesis must be selected and approved not later than the close of the student's Junior College Year.

It is expected that the student will confer with the instructor in charge, and that the subject of thesis will be chosen from that department in which the major portion of the student's work has been done.

2. In order to secure the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from the Theological Department, the candidate must present a thesis on some Biblical theme, the thesis not to contain less than 6,000 words. The first and second years' work are required. Studies in the third and fourth year are elective under the advice of the proper members of the faculty. Students choosing the modern classical course may study German and French; those choosing the ancient classical course, Latin and Greek.

No branch of study will be carried unless a sufficient number of students enroll to form a class.

Anyone desiring full description of courses of study may obtain a catalogue free of expense by applying to O. R. Jenks, President, Aurora, Ill.

The Biblical Department

The aim of the department is to provide such courses of study as will give to the students a thorough and comprehensive knowledge of the Bible, and also to acquaint them with the duties and requirements of the Christian pastor, evangelist and missionary.

All persons taking the Biblical course are required to have preparatory studies equivalent to a first-class high school course. When unable to present sufficient credits to pass this requirement, the student has the opportunity to make up the deficiency in the Preparatory Department.

The Theological Department of Aurora College furnishes students with the best known advantages for the work of the Christian ministry. In addition to the shorter course, a full seminary course is offered, leading to graduation with the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. Graduates are able to cope with all the problems of the modern church.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION

All classes in this department are open to students of all denominations, the tuition being free to all who are studying for the Christian ministry, such as pastors, evangelists, missionaries and Sunday school teachers.

Persons who intend to devote their life to any branch of the Christian ministry are not charged tuition in the preparatory department. For the regular college course, tuition is charged. The student pays his registration fee and for books necessary in the pursuit of his studies.

Many of the classes are open to irregular students. This offers an excellent opportunity to those who are preparing for Sunday school and other special work.

The Bible Correspondence Institute

This is a course of training conducted by correspondence for the benefit of any student who may desire to take up systematic work at home. As far as such a course can take the place of regular school work, this offers a good, consecutive and well arranged line of work for any careful student.

Students enrolling in the Bible School Correspondence Institute will also be enrolled at Aurora College, and their names will be published with the annual college lists. Due credit will be given by the college for all work done, and such credits will be entered on the permanent records. Diplomas are given by the Institute to those completing the course as prescribed.

BOOKS FURNISHED.

All text-books are furnished by the Institute free of charge; but books for required and elective readings are not furnished, save for I, 6 and 9. Books for required and elective readings may often be secured from public libraries without cost to the student.

Commercial Department

Believing that the standard of commercial work should be high, we have provided a very complete and thorough course of study for our Commercial Department. All of the subjects usually taught in commercial schools and colleges will be found in the list given below.

INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION

The teaching in all of the commercial branches is largely done by individual instruction; especially is this true in regard to the study of bookkeeping. This method enables those who possess natural ability, or whose previous education has better qualified them for the work, to advance as rapidly as they are able without being obliged to accommodate themselves to the progress of others who cannot give so much time to the work. Each pupil will be given all the assistance needed.

TIME REQUIRED.

The time required to complete the commercial course of study depends entirely on the scholarship of the student at the time of entering the classes, his ability to advance, and his application to the work. Credit will be allowed for all work done in other schools.

COURSE OF STUDY

Bookkeeping.
Commercial Arithmetic.
Rapid Calculations.
Penmanship.
Business Correspondence.
Business Forms.
Commercial Geography.

English Grammar.
Spelling and Defining.
Civil Government.
Commercial Law.
Political Economy.
Office Training.
Rhetoric (optional).

Aurora College is striving to build up the best commercial department to be found in the Middle West. Each year brings improvement in the various courses of study, and the requirements for graduation, no doubt, will be advanced as the conditions of the business world may demand. The coming year several new features will be introduced. Many of the classes now are receiving instruction from experienced college professors in such studies as commercial law, civil government, political economy, etc. This coming year the purpose will be to improve the bookkeeping and accountant's course, in order to give the students the advantages of the most modern methods now in actual use in the great business houses. Those who intend to take up such a course of study can obtain full information by writing to the president of the college. For terms, see under expense.

SHORTHAND AND TYPEWRITING

Students who register for these studies should know how to use good English, especially correct spelling, capital letters and punctuation marks. The class work covers a full college year, thirty-six weeks. In order to obtain the best results, registration should be made at the opening of the fall term, as it is very difficult for a student entering late in the term to make up lost recitations. Thoroughness in the mastery of principles is the best preparation for success.

All students who are deficient in their knowledge of English and Grammar are required to enter a class in that study; and those who are sufficiently advanced in grammar, but have not studied Rhetoric should enter a class in that branch. Only by special arrangement are students in Shorthand excused from taking these studies.

In connection with a knowledge of Shorthand the student learns letter writing, business forms and how to do all the ordinary work required of an amanuensis.

Good typewriters are at the disposal of the students, and personal instruction is given. Only the "touch method" is taught. Graduates from this course are required to understand producing tabulated work, law forms, manifolding, and the preparation of material for use on the mimeograph.

EXPENSES.

The college year comprises thirty-six weeks. All tuition is payable in advance.

Only those students who have paid tuition and all other dues, or who have made satisfactory arrangements with the college treasurer for so doing, will be admitted to classes.

No tuition will be refunded for less than one-half a semester, and then only when reasons for leaving the institution are adjudged satisfactory by the president.
